HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

CURE OF A DISORDERED LIVER AND BAD DIGESTION.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. R. W. Kirkus, Chemist, 7, Prescot Street, Liverpool, dated [illegible] 6th June, 1851.

To Professor Holloway,

SIR—Your Pills and Ointment have stood the highest on our sale list of Proprietary Medicines for some years. A customer, to whom I can refer for any enquiries, desires me to let you know the particulars of her case. She had been troubled for years with a disordered liver, and bad digestion. On the last occasion, however, the virulence of the attack was so alarming, and the inflammation set in so severely, that doubts were entertained of her not being able to bear up under it; fortunately she was induced to try your Pills, and she informs me that after the first, and each succeeding dose, she had great relief. She continued to take them, and although she used only three boxes, she is now in the enjoyment of perfect health. I could have sent you many more cases, but the above, from the severity of the attack, and the speedy cure, I think, speaks much in favor of your astonishing Pills.

(Signed) R. W. KIRKUS.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF RHEUMATIC FEVER, IN VAN DIEMEN'S LAND.

Copy of a Letter inserted in the Hobart Town Courier, of the [illegible] March, 1851, by Major J. Walch.

Margaret M'Connigan, nineteen years of age, residing at New Town, had been suffering from a violent rheumatic fever for upwards of two months, which had entirely deprived her of the use of her limbs; during this period she was under the care of the most eminent medical men in Hobart Town, and by them her case was considered hopeless. A friend prevailed upon her to try Holloway's celebrated Pills, which she consented to do, and in an incredible short space of time they effected a perfect cure.

CURE OF A PAIN AND TIGHTNESS IN THE CHEST AND STOMACH OF A PERSON 84 YEARS OF AGE.

From Messrs. Thew & Son, Proprietors of the Lynn Advertiser, who can vouch for the following statement.—August 2d, 1851.

To Professor Holloway,

SIR—I desire to bear testimony to the good effects of Holloway's Pills. For some years I suffered severely from a pain and tightness in the stomach, which was also accompanied by a shortness of breath, that prevented me from walking about. I am 84 years of age, and notwithstanding my advanced state of life, these Pills have so relieved me, that I am desirous that others should be made acquainted with their virtues. I am now rendered, by their means, comparatively active, and can take exercise without inconvenience or pain, which I could not do before.

HENRY COE, North street, Lynn, Norfolk.

FRUIT FROM NORFOLK.—The Baltimore American remarks:

The exportation of early fruit and vegetables from Norfolk to Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York have, during the past year or two, increased to an extent which has already made the trade one of importance, as well as one which will continue largely to increase. The boats for Baltimore for a week past have averaged daily two hundred barrels of peas, besides quantities of strawberries, fresh fish, crabs, &c. The early yield of potatoes and tomatoes is just coming into market, and the demand for these will largely add to the receipts from the business. In the Baltimore markets on Saturday, the supply of strawberries was quite limited and prices high, in consequence of, the most of those from Norfolk having been bought up on speculation for the Philadelphia and New York markets. It is estimated that not less than half a million of dollars will be realized the present season by the gardeners in the vicinity of Norfolk from these sources, which not many years since were scarcely of sufficient note to attract attention.

The Norfolk papers state that the steamers from that port, for Baltimore, for some time past have taken on an average two hundred barrels of peas, besides large quantities of strawberries, fish, crabs, &c. daily.

Many speculators have come into the trade and bought largely in Norfolk for the Philadelphia and New York markets, and the effect is, just now, a scarcity in our markets. We shall, however, in a few days have large supplies from our own immediate counties bordering on the bay.

RAISING THE PRICE OF BOARD.—At the time of Gen. Taylor's inauguration, a long, tall, hungry, ungainly fellow, whose hands hung below as his knees when he stood up straight, made his appearance at Coleman's and took lodgings. He sat pretty near the end of the table every day at dinner, and ate ravenously. Soup, fish, fowl, dessert, his enormously long arms kept sweeping round like the arms of a huge windmill, gathering in everything that fell within the arc of a circle described.

His voracity and beastly gluttony so disgusted the other boarders, that about a dozen of them went to Coleman and told him he must get rid of that fellow, or they would positively leave the house.

Coleman reflected awhile, and finally thought he had hit upon a plan. So he took the fellow aside, and told him, that owing to the unusual crowd of the people in the city, and the pletora of every hotel and boarding-house, provisions had become scarce and high, and he found that he was losing money, and should be compelled to raise the price of board from two dollars and a half to three dollars a day.

"Don't," said the fellow, "don't do it! I should die if you do. It nearly kills me now to eat two dollars and a half's worth, and if you raise the price to three dollars, I shall die in two days. Don't do it, if you please!"

A NEW PAINT.—Water lime, (hydraulic cement) mixed with oil in the same way as Blake's Ohio paint or any of the several mineral paints lately brought into use, has been discovered to be equal to any other substance ever used for painting walls, roofs, floors, fences, or any other work; while in point of economy, it is as one to eight or ten. The discovery was [illegible] made by Mr. John Herald, of Hempstead, Long Island.—The Plow, N. Y.

Be systematic in everything about the farm; agriculture requires it, both in animal and vegetable life. Yourself and animals will enjoy better health and do more work, your land will yield her increase in greater abundance, and you will know when one piece of work is finished, and when to commence another.

A gentleman poping his head through a tailor's shop window, exclaimed—"What o'clock is it by your lapboard?"—upon which the tailor lifted up his lapboard and struck him a blow on the head, answering, "It has just struck one."

Extravagant people are always penurious.—Show us a woman who pays a hundred dollars for a shawl, and we will show you a woman who will run all over town, to get her husband's shirts made sixpence cheaper.

Corns can be cured by paring and wetting them with [illegible] it will cause no pain, unless [illegible] to the quick, and never fails to cure, [illegible]

WHIG NOMINATION.

FOR CONGRESS

ISRAEL WASHBURN, Jr.

☞ The weather is very singular. There has not been any soaking rains here since the snow went off, and not a great abundance of showers, so that now the earth is very dry, the streams are low, and all persons are anxious for rain.—The few who pushed their logs forward in the streams when swollen by the dissolving snow, at the risk, as many thought, of having them swept away by a great flood of water, which was expected on the coming of rain upon four feet of snow in the woods, these have succeeded in getting their logs to the boom. But all others who held their logs back, and these constitute the majority, now find the snow wasted without rain, the streams low, and their logs hung up high and dry. Many of the mills too are hung up for want of water.

There was a similar season to this, thus far, some sixteen years since, and then there was no freshet until October, the whole season continuing very dry, and lumber scarce.

It is too early yet, to determine as to the result of this season. It is certain, however, that unless there should be copious rains soon, the lumber season must be a very hard one for operators, and, in any event, can hardly prove a profitable one to them on account of the extra expense which will be required in getting the logs to the mills. Lumber is the great interest of Bangor, and we regret that we cannot, at present, give a more favorable view of its present prospects.

The subject irresistibly presses upon the mind at this junction, of the vast importance of diversifying labor here. We carry all our eggs in one basket, and when that fails the case is a hard one. Instead of this, the capital, and skill, and enterprize of our citizens, should be turned into various channels of manufacturing and business, so that all the great interests of productive labor may be represented here in their practical activities. This is the old story, but it needs to be told, to be repeated, and enforced until there shall be an increase of manufacturing interest here, and business operations enlarged and multiplied in reference to the profitable employment of the largest possible population, consistent with the resources of the country.

"Hon. Israel Washburn, Jr.—We desire to say a word of this gentleman, the present able representative in Congress from the Penobscot District, and the whig nominee for re-election next fall. We most earnestly hope he may be elected. But few men in Congress have done more to make themselves favorably known than Mr. Washburn during so short a period of time. He is evidently of the right stuff—a man who, although conciliatory and judicious, has opinions of his own and is not afraid to speak them. He is true as steel, firm as a rock, and although small in stature, he has a large head and a large heart, and is not afraid to 'take the responsibility.' He is one of that sort of men we like, and if he can be kept in Congress, he will prove an ornament to our State. We know that the whigs of his district cannot fail to put forth their whole strength, and use every honorable effort within their power to re-elect him."

The opinion of the Portland Advertiser expressed above, is the prevailing sentiment of the entire mass of the whigs of Maine. He was well known to the whigs in this district long before his nomination and election, and his position in Congress has given him a state-wide reputation, honorable to him and to his district. Not a dissenting voice to his renomination was heard at the convention. If justice is done to a talented, devoted, straight-forward and efficient representative, who labors for the best good of his constituents, and the honor and welfare of his country, then Israel Washburn, Jr., will again be returned to Congress. He has not disappointed the expectations of his most ardent and intimate friends, while he has far exceeded those of many who voted for him. This should entitle him to increased support, and this we trust he will receive.

Hon. Wm. Cullom, member of Congress from Tennessee, in a recent speech after expressing a preference for Mr. Fillmore as a candidate for the Presidency, and paying a just tribute to Mr. Webster, thus defines his position in regard to Gen. Scott, in which he expresses the true ground for every whig to occupy in reference to all the whig candidates. His remarks on the qualities of Gen. Scott are worthy to stir the heart of a generous people:

"But, sir, although I say this much for those gentlemen, I shall not raise my voice in detraction of General Winfield Scott. I have never done so, and, God being my witness, I never will. His rivals would scorn the action, justice would rebuke it, honor and patriotism would forbid it. He may or may not be nominated. If he receives the nomination, he should receive, as he deserves, the support of the American people. Mr. Chairman, while I have been sleeping upon beds of down, he has been defending me—he has been marching and fighting gallantly—not under the black flag alluded to by my honorable colleague, (Mr. Williams,) but under the flag of our own dear country—the stars and stripes of liberty. Yes, sir, he has been defending us and our liberties; he has been fighting the foes of the country, upon foreign and domestic soil, when the country has been wrapt in sweet, forgetful sleep. And my tongue shall never utter a slander or an imputation against him. His laurels have been dearly earned. A black flag indeed! Sir, is it to be said that the gallant soldier, the victorious chieftain of forty-three years, and of so many glorious battles, has marched under a piratical flag? Sir, General Scott, of all living men, perhaps, has shown the strongest evidence that he loves his country.—I will not now stop to enumerate his achievements."

☞ The Mobile papers state that the Legislature of Alabama, at its last session, passed a law which enacts that no cotton sold by commission merchants shall be considered as delivered, and the ownership fully parted with, until the same has been fully paid for. It is also made a penal offence for any one to buy cotton from a planter or commission merchant and fail or refuse to pay for it at the time appointed, or to make way with or dispose of any cotton purchased and not paid for.

☞ Harper's Magazine for June may be found at the counter of Messrs. E. F. Duren & Co., together with other periodicals of the season.

☞ We see by the report, published in the Charleston Mercury, of the proceedings of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the U. States, at their session last week in Charleston, S. C., that the attention of the Assembly was called to the Maine Law, by the delegate from this State. We highly approve of this testimony in a distant State to the excellence and popularity of "our law," and hope the Sons of Maine, wherever found in their sacred wanderings, may never fail to do honor to the cause of Temperance and its kindred virtues.

Mr. Fiske, from the General Conference of Maine, stated that the Liquor Law which had been adopted in that State, had operated most beneficially in reforming the vices, and improving the general character of society.—That the Alms House and House of Correction in Portland, were now almost tenantless. At the conclusion of these reports, (from Vermont, Maine, and Rhode Island,) Dr. Humphreys moved a resolution, expressive of the pleasure which the Assembly had received from hearing them, extending the hand of christian welcome to the delegate, and offering its heartiest wishes for the continued and increased welfare of those they represented.

☞ Among the improvements in our city which may be considered public, although effected by private enterprise, is the enlargement of the reception room of Messrs. J. U. P. & A. M. Burnham in their Daguerreotype establishment at No. 19 Main street. They have fitted up, in beautiful style, a large saloon for the reception and accommodation of their customers and all the friends of the beautiful art in which they are so successfully engaged, and to which all are cheerfully invited. The enterprise of the Daguerreotypists in this city is very commendable as they have settled the question that in the extent, beauty and comfort of their establishments and in the perfection of their pictures, Bangor is not second to any city in New England.

☞ The Philadelphia North American states that in a full convention one hundred and forty-eight votes will be required for a majority. It sets down Gen. Scott at 150, Mr. Fillmore 98, Mr. Webster 21. Of these votes the great States of New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio, go for Gen. Scott with only four dissenting votes. The position and influence of these States cannot be disregarded. It seems then, almost inevitable that Gen. Scott will be nominated, and if so that he will be elected President of these United States.

Greenland Messenger.—We have received a copy of the first number of a literary and miscellaneous paper published at Palmyra, New York, and edited by a Bangor boy, Mr. G. Herbert Lancey. The paper has a neat appearance and is a very pretty medium through which our young friend can communicate his "thoughts that breathe and words that burn," to the public. We wish the Messenger success specially for the sake of its editor, to whom we cheerfully extend the editorial hand of welcome to the profession.

☞ A cultivator of fruit, whose gardens [illegible] is referred to in the New England Farmer, keeps a circle of several feet around the roots of every tree clear of grass, and enriches it with clay manure, bones, ashes, and several other kinds of fertilizing substances. He has very large crops of most excellent fruit, which, he states, brings him more money than any of the neighboring farmers obtain for all their crops.

☞ The Halifax Sun states that the Rev. R. Mullen, Missionary to the United States on behalf of the Catholic University, endorses, unintentionally, a statement, "that of the number of Irish Catholics emigrating to this country one third, at least, were lost to the Catholic Church." He thinks the number who have been lost to the Catholic church since 1825, is in round numbers, two millions!

☞ We advise our friends who are refitting their houses, and want to put on the finishing touch, to get one of Fenno & Hale's fine Door Plates. We have tried them, and find them just the thing wanted in this climate. They do not crack by exposure to the atmosphere like others but retain their beauty, and even grow handsome by use.

☞ The Fairmount, (Va.,) True Virginian says, that a portion of a regularly Macadamized road has been discovered on the opposite side of the river from Fairmount. Its width is sixteen feet, and it extends along the bank of the river. This discovery was made by the washing away of a hill side which partially covered the road.

☞ The Boston Times thinks the greatest curiosity of the day would be a newspaper which sustains Governor Boutwell's course on the Liquor Bill. It is said to be a fact that no paper in Massachusetts of either party has expressed the first word of approval of that course. Those of them who do not denounce it are silent.

☞ Since April last, an interesting company of one hundred and forty-three emigrants have departed [illegible] the Ralph Cross. The authorized agent of the Liberia Agricultural and Emigration Society took passage in the same vessel, with a view to prepare himself, by a personal examination, to speak authoritatively, of the true condition of affairs in Liberia. He will remain in the vessel, visit all the settlements of Liberia, and return about the first of September.

The Rochester American says the greatly increased facilities for reaching a market are diverting the attention of farmers in Western New York from wheat growing, the products of a dairy being much more remunerative. A great change is discernable already, and a large falling off in the quantity of wheat produced in that quarter is looked for.

☞ It is the confident belief of the intimate personal friends of Mr. Webster, that Mr. Fillmore intends and has, all along, intended, to withdraw his name from the list of candidates before the Convention—promptly if there be no choice on the first ballot.

☞ The Loco National Convention meets at Baltimore this day for the purpose of nominating a Presidential candidate. We shall have telegraphic intelligence immediately upon the nomination being made, which may not be for a day or two.

☞ The Bark A. Hayford, Capt. [illegible], arrived below last night, from San Francisco.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, May 28.

In the Senate.—Mr. Hunter moved to postpone the consideration of private bills to take up the deficiency bill.

Mr. Badger said that he wanted an opportunity to complete his finality compromise speech.

Mr. Hunter said that if they could establish the finality of the deficiency bill he would move to hear him.

Motion to take up the bill, carried 31 to 33.

Mr. [illegible] presented Mr. Berrien's letter, notifying the Senate of his resignation.

Mr. Butler, in moving to fill the vacancy in the Committee on Judiciary, caused by the resignation of Mr. Berrien, expressed his high regard and regret at his leaving.

The deficiency bill was then taken up.

The pending amendment was that making an appropriation of $33,000 a trip to the Collins line, instead of the present allowance, with the proviso that, it shall be in the power of Congress at any time after the 21st of Dec. 1854, to terminate the arrangement for any additional allowance herein provided for, giving six months notice.

Mr. [illegible] moved to strike out this proviso, and insert that after the 30th of June 1854, the rate of compensation shall not exceed $19,250, unless Congress in the meantime shall otherwise provide. This was voted down—yeas 20, nays 22.

Other amendments to this clause were moved and rejected, and finally the Collins amendment was agreed to as first mentioned above—yeas 27, nays 19—as follows:

Yeas—Badger, Bright, Cass, Cooper, Davis, Dawson, Fish, Hale, Hamlin, Houston, James, Jones of Iowa, Mangum, Miller, Norris, Pierce, Pratt, Rusk, Seward, Shields, Smith, Soule, Spruance, Stockton, Sumner, Toucy, Upham.

Nays—Adams, Bell, Borland, Broadhead, Butler, Chase, Clemens, Desaussure, Dodge of Miss., Dodge of Iowa, Douglas, Hunter, Mason, Sebastian, Underwood, Wade, Walker, Weller, Whitcomb.

Various other amendments were acted upon, when the bill was ordered to a third reading.

The bill to enable the government to deepen the passage of the Mississippi river was passed.

Adjourned till Monday.

In the House.—The House immediately resumed the consideration of the Missouri Land Bill. Mr. Jones of Tennessee moved to lay the bill on the table, saying we ought to have time to fix up the bill, and make an "omnibus" of it.

The question on this bill was ordered—yeas 103, nays 74.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union and took up the Indian Appropriation Bill.

Mr. Campbell of Illinois, briefly deprecated the discussion of party questions, and although he was in favor of granting right of way and lands for railroads of a national importance, gave his reasons at length for opposing the bill to aid the Dubuque and Keokuk road, it being of local character and confined to Iowa.

Mr. Clark replied, advocating the importance of the bill.

There was now but a slim attendance of members, and the greater number of lobby members had retired. The committee rose, when the House adjourned.

The Expedition to Japan.—The New York Courier and Enquirer says of the proposed Japan Expedition:

"So far from the Dutch Government having remonstrated with the Government of the United States against its proposed expedition to Japan, it has very cordially approved of the object of that expedition, and expressed its earnest hope that the expedition may be successful in opening the ports of Japan to the commerce of all nations, and an asylum for all who may seek them in distress. Nor is that all. Not only do the Dutch cheerfully look upon the destruction of their monopoly, but they have forwarded to our Government all the charts, memoirs, surveys, statistics, reports, &c., in their possession, for the use of the expedition about to sail for Japan under the direction of Commodore Perry."

☞ Mr. McKay has now on the stocks in his yard at East Boston, a magnificent clipper ship, which will register about 2300 tons. She is not only the largest merchant ship, but the sharpest and longest known, at the present day, either building or afloat.

☞ In the existing condition of things, there is no reason why any disturbing influences, arising from old sectional questions now regarded as settled, should enter into or control the canvass, to the injury of the whig candidate and the whig cause.

☞ Among the articles sent over the Erie Railroad, a few days ago, was a piano for Salt Lake, Utah Territory. The place where it is destined to go, a few years ago, was inhabited only by the Indians.

☞ The Hallowell Gazette states that the month of May has been the driest known for many years, it is said, since 1806. That year hay was short and scarce. Farmers think there will be a short crop of grass this year.

☞ The Newport Daily News says that during the last twelve months four hundred thousand dollars worth of real estate has been sold in that town, to gentlemen who pass the summer there.

☞ The Washington Republic announces the appointment of William H. Dundan as temporary Assistant Postmaster General, in place of Col. Fitz Henry Warren, resigned.

The Boston Courier states that Rev. John Cotton Smith of this city will enter upon the duties of his new charge as assistant Minister of Trinity Church, Boston, on the 13th of June.

☞ The city government of New Bedford has appropriated $2000 for the purpose of celebrating the Fourth of July.

☞ The late G. G. Howland of New York, bequeathed to the Sunday School Union of the Methodist Episcopal Church $1000.

NEW YORK, May 30.

The steamer Merlin arrived yesterday from St. Thomas and Barbadoes. She left the former Port the 20th, the latter the 25th.

The crop of sugar this year at Barbadoes is likely to be the largest ever made on that Island.

The difficulty between the Governor and House of Assembly of Dominica has resulted in a dissolution of the House.

Thomas F. Meagher, the Irish exile, held a levee yesterday, A. M. He was waited upon by an immense number of persons, both Americans and Irishmen. Among those who called were some of the most prominent of the Whig and Democratic politicians.

Business at Ellsworth. It is worthy of remark, as showing the amount of business in this town, that twenty-four loaded vessels left this port on Tuesday last. But little more than twenty years ago there was only one coaster that sailed in and out of Ellsworth; and now, within three weeks, over 60 vessels were counted as lying at our wharves at one time. We can assure our friends abroad that Ellsworth is thriving.—Ellsworth Herald.

Explosion of Boiler of Eastport Steamboat—Several Persons killed, and others wounded.

The new Steamer Eastern City, built to run between Boston, Eastport and Calais, while laying at the foot of Grand street, N. York, preparing for trial trip, burst one of her boilers Saturday, instantly killing one man, and scalding several others, some fatally. The steamer was not much injured.

Later dispatch says that six were scalded fatally. Names of persons injured and dead—Wm. H. G. Stearns, Captain, scalded about face head and neck, and not expected to recover.—Chas. Gosman, Engineer, scalded on the face, neck, chest, arms and hands, no hope of his recovery.

Jno. B. Curtis, Engine builder and acting Engineer, trying machinery, taken from the boat dead. Francis Mayo, fireman, very severely scalded on the face, neck, chest, back and hands, may possibly recover. Chas. Hall, fireman, scalded on head, chest, arms and face, died in Hospital last evening. James Smith, scalded on arm and hand. Capt. Stearns has family in Maine, Chas Gorman also, Curtis no family. Hall native of Maine. The three unfortunate men who up to 8 o'clock last evening were yet alive, will survive injuries.

Capt. Stevens and Gosman were expected to die before morning, and very slight hopes entertained of Mayo.

Habits of Louis Napoleon.

The following is from a volume recently published in Paris, and comes to us through the columns of the National Intelligencer:

Louis Napoleon rises habitually at seven o'clock in the summer and eight in the winter. His first care is to read letters of importance which are brought to him by his valet de chambre. These, and which all bear a private mark, intelligible to the persons most in his confidence.—Afterwards he takes a short promenade in the garden, and returns to his study, which adjoins his sleeping room at 9 o'clock. At this hour he receives his aid de camps. Next in turn come the officers of ordinance, to whom he gives their orders for the day. It is at this time, that he receives his medical attendant, M. Conneau, and also M. Mocquard his chef de cabinet, and Mr. Burke, a foster brother to the Prince, the intendant of the Elysee.

At ten o'clock the Prince gives special audiences. The breakfast is usually served at ten. Louis Napoleon is a very moderate eater. After breakfast he goes to the Council and seats himself at the common table with the ministers. He listens to the deliberations attentively, but generally takes no part in them, except by a few decisive words, which indicate the course to be pursued.

After the council he takes leave of the ministers, and receives such other persons as the requirements of the service call to him. From one to two he receives persons who have letters of audience.

At two o'clock, before the events of December, he was accustomed to go out in a tilbury, or on horseback, to take a ride in the woods of Bologne. On these occasions he was always accompanied by one of his officers of ordinance. A good and elegant horseman, he has always in his stables choice and blooded horses.

On his return, a person charged with this duty, gives him an account of the sessions of the Assembly. He also receives some visits at this hour. The dinner takes place at six o'clock. Several times a week a grand dinner is given, to which are invited the most important ministers, generals, public functionaries and others. The list of persons invited is always prepared by himself with the greatest care.

In the evenings of the days when there is no reception the President goes once or twice a week to the opera, the Theatre Francais, the Italian opera, or even to some one of the minor theatres. The other evenings are employed in work or in study.

All the acts connected with the coup d'etat, proclamations, decrees, appeals to the people, &c., were either dictated or written by himself. He has even written most of the decrees that have been issued since that time. The new constitution is peculiarly his own work. The day before it was published, he corrected the proofs himself, with the greatest care in the presence of the Minister of Justice and Director of the Printing Office. This sitting was prolonged to two o'clock in the morning.

Louis Napoleon is a believer in every acceptation of the term. During the great political events of the last three years, he has never failed to invoke the sanctifications of religion. The name of God recurs in nearly all his addresses. In the several journeys which he has made through France, his first care has ever been to go to the principal church and ask the blessing of Heaven. It was not as was often said at the epoch, with any political view but from motives purely religious.

"What gives me strength," said he one day to a General who had long been a member of his Ministerial Council, "is, that I have the religious faith which you lack."

Ellsworth Fantastics.

A PARODY.

BY HAWKEYE.

I see them on their zig zag way,
Their tatter'd rags about them play,
Fantastic, painted, ragged scout—
Their mammas do not know they're out.
With circular saws for kettle drum,
Disguised in rags, they come, they come,
They're marching on, the bridge is past,
The Court House shade is o'er them cast,
While fainter, fainter, fainter still,
Each poor old horse limps o'er the hill.

Again, again, again that drum,
That old tin-horn—they come, they come,
Across the bridge and down the stream,
A tattered ragged squad they seem,
Now nearer, nearer, yet more near,
That old tin-horn is sounding clear;
Forth, forth, and meet them on their way,
Let love's warm kiss their deeds repay,—
But oh! that ragged squad among,
A mother could not tell her son.

The Wife of Henry Clay.—Mr. Forney, the Clerk of the House of Representatives, at Washington, writes thus to the Pennsylvanian.

"Do you know that Mrs. Henry Clay has never visited Washington? Her domestic character seems to be formed for the quiet shades of Ashland, and though her woman's heart beat high when she saw 'young Harry with his beaver on,' in the midst of the greatest events that have made his name immortal, yet by her, the blessings of home and of fireside were to be prefered. Now that the statesman is wasting away, her presence would doubtless alleviate his sufferings and prepare him for his final reckoning. But now she is too old to come. She could not bear the toilsome journey from Lexington, and she remains as it were a watcher for the fatal news. A few days ago she sent him a bouquet of flowers, but when they reached here they were faded—a melancholy evidence that both the giver and the receiver were fast hastening to that bourne from whence no traveller returns. The old man eloquent held it to his lips for a few seconds, and said, with a mournful pathos, 'the perfume is almost gone!'—But not so with his fame. That will live for ever green in the memory of man. His physical frame will decay, but his great history will never be forgotten. Of him and of his place in the regard of men, in the dim future, it may well be said—

'You may break, you may ruin the vase if you will,
But the scent of the flowers will hang round it still.'"

The Lost Man.—Partial searches have been made for Mr. Phillips, whose departure, two weeks ago, we have announced. A party was out yesterday, but still no effectual and thorough search has yet been made. Suspicions of foul play are entertained by those who have been engaged thus far in the search. A general turn out, for a thorough, and it is hoped effectual search, will be made on Wednesday next, at 2 o'clock, P. M., starting from the house of James Phillips in North Bangor. The inhabitants up and down the river, are earnestly requested to turn out in a body, and find the explanation of the mystery.—Mercury.

A large white headed male eagle, which with its mate had inhabited "Dole's woods," at Stroudwater, and nearest points, year after year, for 40 or 50 years past at least, was shot a few days ago by a person living in the vicinity. It had lately got to be very ferocious and had carried off two lambs—and turkeys, geese and chickens without stint, and fearing that some child might be attacked and carried off [illegible] the owners of the woods, reluctantly consented to have it shot. On Sunday last the female, after being absent for a while, came back with two others [illegible] to keep possession of her old domain.—Portland Advertiser.

At the Whig Convention held at Dover on the 20th, Hon. Israel Washburn, Jr. was renominated for Congress. Every Whig in Maine will most heartily respond to this nomination. Mr. Washburn has ably represented his district in Congress, and we trust his re-election will still further grant to his constituents the benefit of his services. He is a man of sound ability and great energy of character, and with each successive day of legislative experience he will add new credit to the State, and honor to the high legislative body of which he is a member.—[Belfast Signal.

"The fire is going out, Miss Filkins."

"I know it, Mr Green; and if you would act wisely, you would follow its example."

COOKING STOVE
THE best Cook Stove ever introduced to this or any other people.

Having secured the sole agency of this very desirable Stove, I take great pleasure in offering it to my customers and the public. This Stove was invented expressly for this eastern market, by those experienced and expert Stove manufacturers Messrs Eastes & Whittier, who know, and have appreciated the wants of this enlightened people. It is now offered to the public with the fullest confidence in its merits, and its superiority over every other Cooking apparatus ever introduced. Its conveniences for Boiling, Broiling, Frying, &c. are not surpassed, and its extensive and beautiful Oven for Baking and Roasting, will at once recommend itself to the Ladies. One very important feature is, it has very stout and smooth castings, and being manufactured in this city, can at all times be repaired, if ever necessary, at a trifling expense without subjecting one to wait for castings to be ordered from New York, Rhode Island, or elsewhere. Every Stove is warranted one year, and not giving entire satisfaction may be returned and the money will be refunded after 30 days trial.

—ALSO—

A great variety of other patterns of cooking Stoves, such as the

Our State, Bay State, Empire State,
Granite State, State of Maine, &c.,

All or any of which will be sold at extremely low prices.

Elevated Oven Stoves—Hampden 3 and 4 Boiler and two Oven—Boston two oven Stoves. Forest Queen, &c.—and that very beautiful pattern of Cottage Parlor Cook Stove, and in fact every variety of Stove for Cooking or warming worthy of notice, can be found at the Central Street Stove and Furnace Depot, No 15, 17, and 19.
